

2019 Greenway Report

A Year of Water, Wind, Snow, Ice, Rain

2019 can be summed up in one word: challenging. Or maybe unprecedented. Or wet. Hmmmm, maybe it will take more than one word to sum up the year that was 2019.

HIGH WATER

Total # of times the Red River crested between April and November-

4 (that's a first)

All that flooding cause a lot of mess! Many thanks to the crews and volunteers for cleanup!

RIVER ACCESS

of times the docks were removed and reinstalled -

3

Rapidly fluctuating river levels caused a need to remove the docks throughout the season.

BLOWIN' IN THE WIND

of windstorms this summer -

2

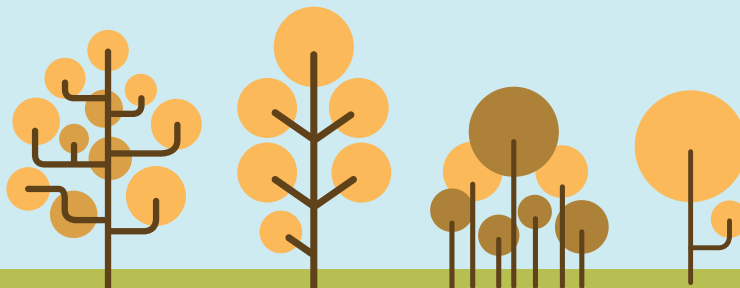

Many thanks to staff & volunteers for their assistance with cleanup efforts

LOTS OF SNOW = LOTS OF FUN

Total # of inches of snowfall for 2018 - 2019 season -

63" (14" over average)

All that snow made for a great year for outdoor winter recreation!

POOL TIME!

& pollinator garden

SNOW? IN OCT?

How much fell during the blizzard on October 10?

Approximately 12"

That was just three weeks after 6" of rain fell in one night.

A lot of people still managed to access and enjoy many parts of the Greenway, despite all the setbacks. The Greenway Takeover Festival, Wild Hog marathon, Rollin' on the River, Run for Your Buns, and so many other events made coming "down by the river" well worth the trip. Heck, we even had guests from Panex, Switzerland, stay at the campground during their cycling trip from Seattle WA to Montreal Canada.

There are plenty of projects in the works for 2020 so stay in touch through our many social media accounts listed below. See you on the trail!
